SUNY SULLIVAN

Throughout the semester instructors receive notifications to complete Starfish Progress Surveys. The information that instructors provide in the Progress Surveys raises flags and/or kudos that automatically notify students of their academic progress. These Progress Surveys will open directly after the 2nd, 3rd, and 5th week of the semester are complete. Starfish flags will also automatically raise after midterm grades are entered if a student has received a midterm grade of C or lower in any course.

Types of Progress Survey Flags:

No Show (used in 2nd week progress surveys to prevent students from being dropped after 3rd week)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this flag:
  - Student has not submitted any coursework or participated in the course
  - Student has not initiated any contact with faculty member to ask questions about an academic subject studied in the course.

Click here to view the message that the student receives

NEVER Attended or Participated (used in 3rd week progress surveys to drop students from course)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this flag:
  - Student has not submitted any coursework or participated in the course
  - Student has not initiated any contact with faculty member to ask questions about an academic subject studied in the course.

Click here to view the message that the student receives

Grade Concern/Failing or in Danger of Failing (used in 3rd and 5th week progress surveys)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this flag:
  - Student is at a critical threshold of not passing the course
  - Student is at point where if their habits don't change, they will fail
  - Student attends class but does not participate

Click here to view the message that the student receives

SUNY SULLIVAN

Types of Progress Survey Kudos:

Off to a Great Start (used in 3rd week progress survey)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this kudo:
  - Receiving good grades on assignments, exams, etc. at the start of the semester

Click here to view the message that the student receives

Meets Expectations (used in 3rd and 5th week progress surveys)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this kudo:
  - Student is participating, submitting assignments, and passing, but there is still room for improvement

Click here to view the message that the student receives

Outstanding Academic Performance (used in 5th week progress surveys)

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this kudo:
  - Student consistently performs well on assignments, exams, etc.
  - Performing better than most peers in course

Click here to view the message that the student receives

SUNY SULLIVAN

If you would like to report a student's academic progress outside of the Progress Surveys, you can raise the following flag and kudos manually:

Types of Manual Flags:

Grade Concern

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this flag:
  - Student is at a critical threshold of not passing the course
  - Student is at point where if their habits don't change, they will fail
  - Student attends class but does not participate

Click here to view the message that the student receives

Types of Manual Kudos:

Outstanding Academic Performance

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this kudo:
  - Student consistently performs well on assignments, exams, etc.
  - Performing better than most peers in course

Click here to view the message that the student receives

Showing Improvement

- Student behavior that might warrant raising of this kudo:
  - Student is showing a dramatic improvement academically/participation
  - Student is turning in assignments after a period of inactivity
  - Student has shown improvement following a previously raised flag

Click here to view the message that the student receives